There is considerable cross-over in mentions of the books and between the books and TV shows.

There are videotapes of some of the TV programs and a sound tape of the Haunting Special.

As with David Belin and John Davis, the regular files hold more information.